Hon. Ben. J. Lindsley,

My dear Sir:-

Assuring you that we appreciate the interest that you have shown in the work of The Boy Conservation Bureau, we enclose herewith a little leaflet on the objects - the work - the hope of the Bureau.

We also enclose a copy of the Second Annual Report. May we not impose upon you to read this? The officers and Advisory Committee feel that our Bureau has proven the need of such work, that our method is the most efficient way to reach boys, that the need is greater than the equipment and the funds that we have had in the past year and that our friends, everywhere, with a full knowledge of the work will be glad to aid in every way that they can.

OUR NEEDS

To carry on this work efficiently this year, the Committee feel that there should be raised a fund of $5,000 so the Secretary may devote his undivided time to this work, and to provide him with a better office and working facilities.

We would like to have your consideration of this question. We would like to talk to you about this work.

We hear from every housetop of the wealth, of the progress and future of our State and our Country, but we feel that we are but poor indeed if there be a lack of helping hands to reach out and put our boys on to the roadway which will lead to their success. Will you lend your hand to this work? May we tell you about it?

We shall much appreciate your reply.

Yours truly,

E. W. Watkins
Secy

International Launches Its Full Film Service

Bible Stories, Dramas, Travels and Industrial Pictures Now Ready for General Distribution.

DECEMBER marks a new epoch in the career of The International Church Film Corporation, for it brings with it the inauguration of the complete weekly program service. This will be welcome news to the many churches that have been waiting, more or less patiently, for full service. Partial service began in October when the International commenced circulation of weekly one-reel Bible films.

For many months the studios have been working industriously on dramas, comedies, travels and industrial pictures for the week-day program and now, with twelve weeks' programs ahead, the I. C. F. C. can announce the launching of the complete weekly service of Biblical stories and dramatic, comedy, traveling and industrial pictures.

The first two weeks' programs, and a brief synopsis of each follows:

First Week—"Blind Bartimaeus," Boston Scene, "A Study in Tempo," "By Their Fruits" and "The Magic Powder of Life."

"Blind Bartimaeus," a one-reel Bible story. The great faith of this beggar by the walls of Jericho whose heart was strong and courageous, is the basis for an imaginative development of what his life may have been. This story is splendidly filmed and the religious atmosphere is maintained at all times throughout the many scenes.

"Scenes In and Around Boston," one reel. No American city has more points of interest for the lovers of traditions than Boston. All of the places associated with the city's history are shown, including the Old North Church, the Commons, Bunker Hill Monument, the Lexington battleground and those associated with the Boston Tea Party and Paul Revere's Ride.

"A Study in Tempo," one reel. Shows how a high-speed camera takes pictures at the rate of 200 a minute, the normal rate at which they are shown upon the screen and the "speeding-up" and "slowing-down" processes. Inside facts concerning the making of motion pictures.

"By Their Fruits," a two-reel drama. It is by the little unconscious fruits of a man's daily life that we judge him. Lester Blair is a likeable lad, but his friends are aware that he has a habit of taking small things which do not belong to him. When a large sum of money vanishes from his employer's safe, he is suspected and arrested. The difficulty of proving his innocence brings to him a sense of his folly and serves to turn his life to good fruits as the story unfolds.

"The Magic Powder of Life," one reel. The first of four episodes of "The Patchwork Girl of Oz," a fairy tale for both children and grownups, by Frank Baum, author of the famous story-play, "The Wizard of Oz." The characters in this film are funnier and more unique than those of his earlier work. The "trick photography" used to produce the many "magical" effects makes this the best motion picture of its kind.

Second Week—"The Call of Samuel," Reel Facts No. 1, "The Woosy," "The Littlest Shepherd" and an industrial film.

"The Call of Samuel," a one-reel Bible film. The story of the boy who, sleeping on his couch in the temple, heard God's voice and answered, "Speak, Lord, here am I," is linked with the story of a modern boy who was afraid.

Reel Facts No. 1, one reel. Education and pleasure combine in this trip to Prague, the center of Czechoslovakia about which so much is talked and so little known. One-half of the reel is devoted to "The Honeymakers" with interesting close-ups of the queen bee and her industrious subjects.

"The Woosy," one reel. In this second episode of the story of "The Patchwork Girl of Oz" the adventures of the leading characters through the mazes of fairyland are continued, with new mysteries and surprises featuring every foot of the film.

"The Littlest Shepherd," a two-reel drama. A splendid film, rich in the costumes and scenes of the long ago. The tale is that of a boy shepherd who refuses a reward for performing a service for his king, but who, through the friendship of the latter,

A New and Successful Method for Civic, Social and Moral Betterment

"Garden City" Plan. A group of the children of the "Garden City" plan, showing the results of the plan. The children are standing in a line in the garden.

THIS kind of any modern method for social betterment has brought forth quicker results, larger returns, with so little cost as the "Garden City" plan of Worcester. It consists of a city of nearly 600 gardens, prepared from a five-acre dump located in what is known as the "Island District." This district lies in the great valley between Providence and Beacon Streets; inhabited by twenty-two nationalities; contains 20,000 children, 18 years and under, has a mixed police record; and where much poverty and intemperance are seen.

The plan was suggested over two years ago by Rev. R. J. Flood, head of the Worcester Social Settlement, with the aim of improving the material and moral conditions of the community. Offenses against property prevailed to an alarming degree, and nothing special was done to solve the problem. The command, "Thou shalt not steal," was considered a good joke by the

CATCHING UP WITH ROOSEVELT

This Article Shows, in Outline, the Vast Amount of Work Colonel Roosevelt got through as President, and how Bitterly He was Fought by Capitalists and Politicians Every Inch of the Way. Every Reform Measure He Introduced was Fiercely Opposed, as were His Pure Food and Pure Drug Laws. Now All His Measures of Reform are Accepted by the Very Men Who Fought Them the Hardest. This Is "Catching Up with Roosevelt."

This Welliver article is very much worth reading. Indeed, no one who wishes to be well informed can afford not to read it.
